

Vladimir Voevodsky

(vladimir@math.ias.edu)

Work:

School of Mathematics
Institute for Advanced Study
Princeton NJ 08540
USA
Tel: (609)734-8042

Residence:

22 Earle Lane
Princeton NJ 08540
USA
Tel: (609)279-2835

PERSONAL

Date of birth June 4 1966
Place of birth Moscow, Russia

EDUCATION

Harvard University
Ph.D. in Mathematics June 1992
“Homology of schemes and covariant motives” (advisor: David Kazhdan)
Moscow University
B.S. in Mathematics June 1989

ACADEMIC POSITIONS

Institute for Advanced Study Jan. 2002 – present
Professor
Harvard University Sep. 2006 – Jun. 2008
Visiting Scholar
Institute for Advanced Study Sep. 1998 – Dec. 2001
Member
Northwestern University Sep. 1996 – June 1999
Associate Professor
Max-Planck Institute Sep. 1996 – Aug. 1997
Visiting Scholar
Harvard University Sep. 1996 – June 1997
Visiting Scholar
Harvard University July 1993 – July 1996
Junior Fellow of Harvard Society of Fellows
Institute for Advanced Study Sep. 1992 – May 1993
Member

GRANTS AND FELLOWSHIPS

Sloan Fellowship	1996-98
NSF Grant “Motivic Homology with Finite Coefficients”	1995-98
NSF Grant “ A^1 -homotopy theory”	1999-2002
NSF Grant “ A^1 -homotopy theory”	2005-2008
NSF Grant “Univalent Foundations of Mathematics”	2011-2014
Clay Prize Fellowship	1999,2000,2001

PRIZES AND HONORS

Fields medal	2002
Member of the European Academy of Sciences	since 2003
Honorary Professor, Wuhan University, China	since 2004